Beyond Adaptation: PABRA-ICIPE Unveiling BRAINS Initiative, Pioneering Climate Resilience in Sub-Saharan Africa

The Alliance of Bioversity International and CIAT (The Alliance), in collaboration with icipe, are poised to transform the agricultural landscape by leveraging the potential of beans, fruit trees, and edible insects through their Building Equitable Climate-Resilient African Bean & Insect Sectors (BRAINS) initiative.

BioInnovate Africa grants support the development of an innovative deworming drug

A BioInnovate Africa funded project led by scientists at the Jomo Kenyatta University of Science and Technology in Kenya has developed a herbal deworming medicine targeted at addressing drug resistance concerns and reducing hazardous residues in animal products.

Celebrating Women In Science: Inspiring Sustainability and Impact in Africa

By John Fewu

Today, as the world commemorates the International Day of Women and Girls in Science, we celebrate the remarkable achievements of women scientists in our PASET Regional Scholarship and Innovation Fund (PSIF). Of the 202 doctoral scholars in the PASET EER scholarship, 51% are women from more than 34 countries in Africa. This is a positive development considering that less than 30% of the world’s researchers are women according to UNESCO Institute for Statistics (UIS) data (2013), getting closer to the 50:50 ideal.
